“and because he was a tentmaker as they were,
he stayed and worked with them.” Acts 18:3

“Brothers and sisters, I want you to know that the things that have happened to me have actually advanced the gospel.”
Philippians 1:12

We have so much hope and love to share with the world. Not just the amazing hope of a future with God in heaven one day but hope right now as well.

I pray you are using this opportunity to share your faith with those closest to you.

Right now, we may be unable to see many of the people we know because of health concerns, but this should not stop us from sharing the hope we have with those who know us best and who we care for dearly. The virus may limit our ability to gather, but the mission has not changed.

Ever notice who the apostle Paul writes to when he talks about his faith? In the two passages above, he shares his faith with people he worked with, and people like “brothers and sisters” to him.

Our world may be changing rapidly. You may find yourself questioning some of your beliefs and habits right now; you may even be seeing the rise in hostility towards Christian points of view. Keeping quiet and treating faith like a hobby, we can set aside and pick up later is becoming the default position of many. Yet the world has not changed in one way—it still needs Jesus.

His teachings work. His way of love is still the best solution to the worst problems of our time. His peaceful way can still transform our world without harming others.

I pray you share your hope and faith with those you love,

In Christ,

Rick Ivey
Sr. Pastor
